Stewart's Original Hot Dogs "The Little Orange Drive-In That Could"

It all began in 1932, when the husband and wife team of John Louis and Gertrude Mandt opened the first drive-in restaurant in Huntington. They purchased a little piece of land at 2445 Fifth Avenue and built, at a cost of $1,750, a tiny orange building that still stands today. The menu consisted of only two items: Stewart's Root Beer and popcorn. Sales for the first day totaled an unimpressive 50 cents.
